

In re: "The Ravine"

The novel asks the question: "are you ready to explore and question your own views on faith, forgiveness and the afterlife?" and it does not disappoint - it delivers on its promise - - and then some!

The fact that it is inspired by true events is amazing to me! I am a man of faith, through the saving grace of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, and "The Ravine" takes me of faith, forgiveness, and most of all, the restoration of hope - and in the present surroundings (seemingly unredeemable) opens our minds, our hearts and our voices to the last line of the book: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

I appreciate the opportunity of sharing this amazing novel. Thank you!
